Superannuation!

WHAT??

John Kennedy is the Principal of KRSecurities
(and The Sheffield Wednesday Supporters Fan Club (this is a lie))

If you thought getting old and retiring was easy – think again.

If you think that 4/5 of the current working population is to retire and live off the earnings of the kids presently in high school – think again.

If people think that the huge number that appears on their super statement is anything like what they will actually need to live above the poverty line in the future – think again.

We have made it impossible for the next generation to own anything substantial by making their working conditions flexible, inflating the cost of a home and starting them on their road to prosperity with a huge HEX debt and they don't resent it at all. As soon as they are old enough to be politicians there could be some readjustments.

So what to do with the Super? The prospects are momentous.
